Mr. W. H. A. Moore,
3449 South Street,
Chicago, Ill.

My dear Mr. Moore:

I beg your pardon for this tardy acknowledgment of your splendid article. I have been in and out of the city in such manner that I have not been able to give myself to my correspondence. We will be very glad indeed to print your article. My only regret is that our financial resources will not permit us to compensate you in any degree commensurate with the value of your work. I am enclosing our check for Five dollars($5) and if it were not at this season of the year I could make it a little more. I am very glad also to tell you that in the same issue with your article Mrs. Alice M. Dunbar, Paul's widow, is to break her long silence by contributing an article on Dunbar. I hope to be in Chicago about September 16th when I will endeavor to see you.

Again thanking you I am, as ever,

Your sincere friend,

RCP/EBH
